

Sir,—In justice to an oppressed and most distressed people, I hope you will give publicity to the following account of the history of the County of Westmeath.

Upon the same humane principles which make every body anxious to throw water on a burning fire, the Press of the United Kingdom, with very few exceptions, appears to have been almost entirely ignorant of the wretched condition of the Irish people—those terrible "beggar of the Nation"—who have been the victims of a long and cruel system of oppression.

I have the honor to inform you that the following is a true and correct account of the history of the County of Westmeath, from the time of its first settlement to the present day. It is a history of the most oppressive and cruel system of land tenure ever known in any country.

The County of Westmeath is situated in the south-west of Ireland, and is bounded on the north by the County of Wick, on the east by the County of Longford, on the south by the County of Wick, and on the west by the County of Wick.

The County of Westmeath is a beautiful and fertile country, and is well watered. It is a country of great antiquity, and is the seat of many noble families.

HALLOWEEN AT BORNINGHAM ASYLUM.

NEAR EDINBURGH.

Some time ago there appeared in that cleverly concocted and interesting account of a weekly paper, the Edinburgh Evening Mail, an account of a Hallowe'en party at the Asylum.

The Hallowe'en party at the Asylum was a very interesting and amusing affair. It was held on the evening of the 31st of October, and was attended by a large number of the inmates of the Asylum.
